

RENEWAL AND RECONCILIATION IN POST WAR COUNTRIES

Room CC1.8, Stratford Campus, University of East London (Jubilee/Central line)
Saturdays, 11:00am – 1:00pm (Refreshments from 10:30am)

This series aims to critically examine recent evidenced based developments in community mental health in countries affected by war and natural disasters, including psychological responses to trauma in a global context, with particular emphasis on capacity building and community based interventions with individuals, families and communities. The seminars will include project and case study presentations, conversations with mental health professionals and volunteers, and discussions of relevant readings and research.

Attendance is open to anyone with a professional, diaspora or funding interest in reconciliation work and child or adult mental health in Sri Lanka or other post war countries. Please contact us if you would like to volunteer your services and contribute to the seminar series as we would welcome an opportunity to share experiences with colleagues working in this area.
